ADVISOR'S QUARTERLY

Thoughts for advisors

Let the Advisor's Quarterly wrap you into the Mortar Board advisor network. We can support you with ideas and info to make your Mortar Board advising experience fun and meaningful. We want Mortar Board to be the best honor society on your campus, and we thank you for the capstone experience you provide members of Mortar Board.

"Social-and-Some-Info" Hours November 18 and December 9

Learn from advisors around the country and expand your professional network at the same time. Attend our "Social-and-Some-Info" Hours.

On November 18, hear from two advisor colleagues on the theme, "Making Things Happen!"

Susan Sullivan, director of the University Center at Longwood University, will talk about how her chapter pulled off Homecoming events in spite of coronavirus concerns. Apply her techniques to your events!

Advisor Jennifer Duncan will address "Two Things That Worked," for her chapter at Agnes Scott College. Jennifer is assistant director of the Center for Student Involvement and manager of the Alston Campus Center. Her comments are likely to spark great discussion!

Following these short presentations from Susan and Jennifer, we will speak generally about advising, answer questions for each other, get suggestions and get acquainted!

On December 9, we will have a "Virtual Ceremony" theme, and advisors at the University of San Diego (USD) and Jackson State University (JSU) will be featured. Dr.

Perla Myers, senior advisor at USD, will speak about the teamwork involved in celebrating the chapter's 20th anniversary. Dr. Gilda Robinson, a member of the advisory team of our newest chapter at JSU, will talk about how she and colleagues brought together their terrific virtual installation and initiation.

Count on general discussion, Q & A, and getting acquainted at this session too!
